

The CMS Program is offered to MBA students as part of the international experience degree requirement and is an opportunity to gain firsthand exposure to global management concepts and practices. The program is highly recommended for all MBA students interested in conducting business in the modern global economy.

The CMS Program includes a year of study and concludes with travel to 3-5 countries in a specific region of the world. In each country, students meet with business executives, visit local attractions and learn about the business environment, social culture and customs.

Program Structure:

- Fall - Research (Los Angeles)
- Spring - Research (Los Angeles)
- Summer I - Travel (Mid-May to Early June)
- Summer II - Final Presentations (Los Angeles)

CAREER BENEFITS

The substantial group experience obtained through CMS helps students develop their leadership skills. The international component benefits those seeking careers in almost any field and identifies students as informed, confident, self-sufficient managers who are able to learn quickly and adapt to changing conditions. Students should cite CMS on their resume and in job interviews, and should discuss how their overseas experience made them more aware, responsible, organized and innovative professionals.

Testimonials:

"The CMS experience is one of the highlights of my resume and is often discussed during the interview process. It provides a great opportunity to show my breadth of knowledge and experience in the international business environment." – Jonathan Nichols, CMS 2011

"CMS was one of the highlights of my time in the LMU MBA program. What I learned about business and about myself as a person was priceless and the bonds I formed with other team members and classmates will last a lifetime. I never imagined I'd ever publish anything but my group published a chapter in a book. CMS was an experience that I'll never forget and one I recommend for every person who enrolls in LMU's MBA program!" – Laura Cepeda, CMS 2012
